Redaction Family

Redaction is the removal of content prior to release or publication. Appligent's redaction products completely remove content from the data stream, unlike other solutions that merely hide the information under black bars. Since the content is no longer in the document, snooping or hacking into the file cannot reveal it.

Redaction has many applications in government, the court system and many regulated industries. For instance, the Freedom of Information Act (FOIA) mandates public access to many documents as long as sensitive content is not disclosed.

Redax

Redax is a plug-in for Acrobat 5 and above that allows the user to select content by drawing boxes around it or by using Acrobat standard mark-up (highlight, underline and strikethrough) on text.

- Supports text and image redaction
- Include built-in and customizable exemption codes for FOIA and the Privacy Act
- Search and automatically highlight terms in a pre-defined list

Redax Lite

Redax Lite is an Acrobat plug-in that is more streamlined than Redax.

- It only redacts electronic text (not images of scanned pages)
- It only supports Acrobat standard mark-up
- It does not include built-in support for exemption codes
