

Re: putting a database onto the web ?

 [Replies ]  [Post a Reply ]  [View Thread ]  [Message List ]

Posted by Frank Naude (148.87.63.43) on December 08, 2004 at 14:33:27:

In Reply to: putting a database onto the web ? posted by Mark on December 03, 2004 at 12:22:31:

Hi,

There are many ways to do this. One of the easiest would be to install Oracle 10g and the 10g Companion CD to get HTMLDB. HTMLDB provides an easy to use web site for building web based applications. With HTMLDB you will be able to deploy web applications on Windows, Solaris, or any other platform that Oracle runs on.

Best regards.

Frank

Replies:

- Re: putting a database onto the web ? AnotherOne 15:04:46 12/09/04 (0)

Post a Reply

Name:

E-Mail:

Subject:

(please quote relevant parts of the above message)

Message:

 [Replies ]  [Post a Reply ]  [View Thread ]  [Message List ]

The message is part of the Oracle FAQ