Pursuant to the Court's Summons and Notice of Attorney Fee Lien, Montana Loggers Exchange submits the following Answer:

Montana Loggers Exchange objects to common fund certification in this case and asserts the following defenses:

1. Petitioner cannot satisfy the three elements for common fund certification set forth in the Ruhd decision.
2. Petitioner did not request common fund certification in a timely manner.
3. The decision should not be applied retroactively because Petitioner cannot satisfy any of the three Chevron factors set forth in the Dempsey decision.
4. Application of a common fund under the facts of this case would violate provisions of the U.S. and Montana Constitutions, including but not limited to, procedural and substantive due process, freedom of contract, and taking without just compensation.
